

General Dwight D. Eisenhower

*“The things I saw beggar description...
The visual evidence and the verbal testimony of starvation, cruelty, and bestiality were so overpowering.”*

General Dwight D. Eisenhower
After viewing a liberated concentration camp

Attention Teachers & Students:

- Books written by children for children —a new way to share history
- Looking for new young authors and illustrators (age 18 and younger)
- Curriculum provided with suggested student activities
- Looking for more stories from the WWII generation

Writer’s guidelines found at www.abookbyme.com

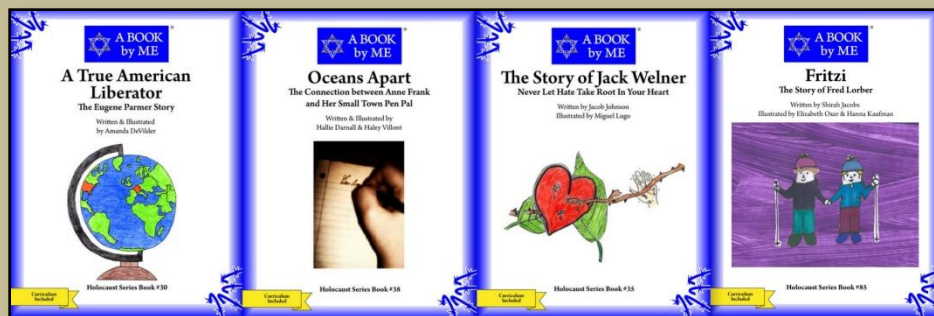

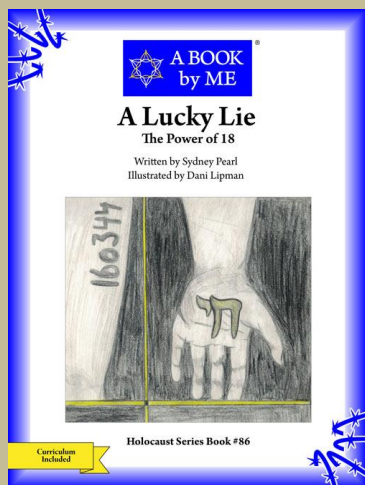

Questions contact jeanieabbbm@gmail.com

Mary Jean Eisenhower

“I started to read the materials and stories, and I could not put them down. It was so powerful to read both the student’s interpretation, as well as the direct stories from the survivors themselves.”

Mary Jean Eisenhower
Granddaughter of President Dwight D. Eisenhower

“I’m asking ordinary children to do something extraordinary!” - Deb Bowen, Creator, A BOOK by ME