

Deb Bowen

AUTHOR • SPEAKER

Holocaust Series

Human Rights Series Hero Series

"I'm asking ordinary students to do something extraordinary."

Since 2003, Deb Bowen, Founder/Executive Director of A BOOK by ME, has been asking children to hear the WWII generation firsthand and write and illustrate their stories preserving them for future generations. Almost twenty years later, kids can choose to write for either the Holocaust, Human Rights or Hero series.

- Serves on Holocaust Education Committee of the Quad Cities and Iowa Council for Holocaust Education
- Member of Daughters of American Revolution (DAR)
- Recipient of Hope for Humanity Award, Augustana College in April 2015
- Speaker at Holocaust Museum LA in October 2015
- Speaker at Children of American Revolution (CAR) at Illinois State Convention in February of 2016
- Speaker at State Social Studies Institute in Des Moines Iowa in June of 2016
- Nominated for a Jefferson Award Spring 2019
- Virtual Presenter "A New Way to Make History Come Alive" at International Society for Technology in Education (ISTE) December 2020
- Virtual Presenter at National Forum to Advance Rural Education Fall 2023

References:

Allan Ross, Director Jewish Federation of the Quad Cities
Beth Kean, Director, Holocaust Museum LA
Stefanie Wager, President National Council for the Social Studies (NCSS)

Email abookbyme@gmail.com for reference contact info .

"I have many times researched and studied the Holocaust, but these stories bring the experience to life."

Mary Jean Eisenhower
Granddaughter of President Dwight D. Eisenhower

